Translation

A: It's weekend today. You didn't date with Keke?

B: No. There are some problems between us.

A: What's wrong? Did you quarrel with each other?

B: No, I just think there are many differences between us. Maybe we're not fit.

A: What's the problem?

B: I really don't understand that why I pay for every date.

A: Mostly, a boy will pay for date when he dates with a girl in China. Girls seldom pay for that.

B: Really? I hear that for the first time.

……之间

means 'between' or 'among', usually used after pronoun(s) or noun(s).

“并”

The adverb 'bing' is used before a negative for emphasis, usually as a retort.
